Jacoby named Continental Girbau West branch sales manager

Santa Fe Springs, Calif. – Andrew Jacoby was recently named the branch sales manager at Continental Girbau West (CG West), a subsidiary of Continental Girbau serving California. Jacoby is responsible for managing the sales efforts of the branch. He will also assist in the company's marketing and equipment inventory management.

"I have no doubt that Andy will do a fabulous job serving the company in his position," said Robert Speirs, CG West general manager. "He has vast experience in both the coin and on-premise laundry markets; he understands what it takes to be successful in this business."

Jacoby earned his bachelor's degree in business administration from California State University prior to entering the laundry industry in 1988. "I hold experience from working for major laundry distributors and from owning a laundry equipment distribution company," said Jacoby. "This wide base of industry knowledge makes Andy a huge asset to our team," said Speirs.

"It was a very easy decision to accept the position to be part of the CG West team," said Jacoby. "I spent many years selling Continental laundry equipment and really believe in the performance and quality of Continental products. Over the years, I have grown to know Continental's president, Mike Floyd, and the rest of the team – a group of professionals that I trust and respect."

A subsidiary of Wisconsin-based Continental Girbau, Inc., CG West serves the California vended and on-premise laundry markets by providing equipment, parts, service and training.
